Postal debate goes into overtime

► Thursday was scheduled to be the final day of the parliamentary session ► MPs debate late into the night on back-to-work legislation

SEAN KILPATRICK/THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bad weather never keeps a postal worker from his appointed rounds, and the chance to go home and enjoy some summer weather wasn't keeping MPs from their official tasks either.

Parliamentarians debated late into the night Thursday to pass legislation that would see Canada's locked-out mail workers sent back on their routes.

Talks between the Canadian Union of Postal Workers and Canada Post broke down late Wednesday.

Debate on the bill itself began just before 9 p.m. Ottawa time, after almost a day's worth of debate on a procedural motion connected to it.

The Conservative government had tabled back-to-work legislation on Monday after Canada Post locked out the union, claiming rotating strikes that began on June 3 were costing the company tens of millions of dollars in lost business.

The government says the bill is necessary because the lockout is damaging the economy.

"We will sit here as long as we need to sit here," Labour Minister Lisa Raitt told the Commons as debate began.

The Opposition New Democrats had initially suggested they would stall passage of the bill to give the two sides more time to come up with an agreement on their own.

But after talks collapsed, the NDP was focusing on amendments.

The postal union is seeking a change that could strip the bill of a provision where an arbitrator must choose between the two offers on all other outstanding issues — a so-called winner-takes-all approach.

Critics are also uncomfortable with the wage provisions in the bill, saying they are inferior to the last offer Canada Post had on the table.

Earlier Thursday, the Conservatives didn't rule out making changes.

School name change proving debatable

- ▶ A new name for Cornwallis Junior High might not happen until 2012
- ▶ School and community will come up with suggestions for a new name

RYAN TAPLIN/METRO

▶ Sharon Pinaud looks over the statue of Edward Cornwallis in Cornwallis Park Thursday.

JENNIFER
@METRONEWS.CA

It's possible more people than pigeons visited the Edward Cornwallis statue in Halifax on Thursday.

"I was down here shopping and I thought about the statue. I wanted to see it and think about if it's controversial," said Sharon Pinaud at the park across from the Via Rail train station.

She was intrigued by the controversy surrounding Cornwallis, the founder of Halifax and the man who put a bounty on the scalps of the Mi'kmaq people.

The Halifax Regional School Board voted on Wednesday to strip his name from a Halifax junior high school.

There's also a park and a street in Halifax with his name on it.

The statue "glorifies him and he wasn't like that. He was a human being and that happened," Pinaud said, adding a plaque should be added to outline his darker side.

But she disagrees with taking his name off the

"Because it happened," she said. "It's history and it should make us more tolerant to others."

Doug Hadley, spokesman for the board, said it will be some time before a new name will be attached to Cornwallis Junior High School on Preston Street.

A new principal is coming to the school in the fall and that person will strike up a committee to come up with names. The school board will pick from the suggestions.

Uncertain future

▶ Board: The school's future is also uncertain. The board's long-term plan involves asking the province to build a new junior high, which will absorb the students from Cornwallis and Gorsebrook schools.

▶ Approval: "It hasn't been approved, so it could be anywhere from three to 10 years if the province approves it," said Doug Hadley, spokesman for the Halifax Regional School Board.

Historian questions board decision

A Canadian historian is questioning a decision by Halifax educators to change the name of a school in a bid to distance themselves from a historic figure who aboriginals say was guilty of ethnic cleansing.

Jack Granatstein said Thursday that the Halifax Regional School Board is trying to rewrite history by severing the connection to Edward Cornwallis, a British governor who founded the city in 1749.

"You can't go around trying to undo history or make history perfect," Granatstein, a historian with the Canadian Defence and Foreign Affairs Institute, said from Toronto.

Native elder and author Daniel Paul launched the fight about 25 years ago to have monuments and public tributes to Cornwallis changed or taken down.

"You can't remove him from history, but it should be taught that he issued this proclamation for the scalps of people in an effort to ethnically cleanse the province," Granatstein said.

"Do you need to celebrate him as a hero? The answer is no."

Debate on widening road gets deferred

► Counsellors Blumenthal, Watts want public information session on potential Bayers Road plans

ALEX BOUTILIER
@METRONEWS.CA

The question of whether to prepare for a potential widening of Bayers Road was deferred by the municipality's transportation committee on Thursday.

Coun. Jennifer Watts moved to delay the discussion, to allow enough time for regional council to discuss and debate the Road Network Functional Plan.

"We're being asked to provide leadership around a really critical issue in our community, which is the issue of how people move around here in a sustainable way that protects communities," Watts told the committee.

Municipal staff recommended moving the issue of widening the road to a full council meeting, and approving it in principle there.

That would allow staff to keep an eye on the three apartment buildings and four residential properties that would be directly affected by any future widening plans.

But the report noted more than once there are no current plans to widen the road. However, it added, the potential should be preserved.

"We know it will come to council and we know what the reality will be," Watts said. "We'll buy those properties. Because we're in the business of looking at this road widening in a significant way."

Coun. Jerry Blumenthal, whose district borders the north side of Bayers Road, spoke in support of Watts' motion.

Expansion

A staff report projected Bayers Road will require six mainline lanes by 2036.

Conflict seen in expansion, protection plans: Watts

Coun. Jennifer Watts says there seems to be a contradiction in HRM's emphasis on both expansion and peninsular protection.

In a meeting of the municipality's transportation committee on Thursday, Watts referred to plans to facilitate expansion in places like Bedford on the one hand, and protecting the downtown and peninsula on the other.

"I don't have the confidence, right now, that there's actual integrated and understandable process about why we're proceeding in different ways with different parts of this plan," Watts said.

Thursday's debate centred around the potential to expand Bayers Road to accommodate traffic congestion. A staff report projected Bayers Road would need to be expanded to six lanes by 2036, at an estimated cost of $16 million.

RYAN TAPLIN/METRO

► Jennifer Watts

The issue has been deferred until the early fall, when regional council has an opportunity to debate the larger Road Network Functional Plan. But it revealed divergent views on the future expansion of the municipality, perhaps most clearly in the form of strained metaphors about the heart of the city.

"(The expansion of Bayers Road) is long overdue," said Coun. David Hendsbee. "They talk about trying to maintain a vibrant downtown? Well, to keep the heart of the downtown, you've got to have the arteries."

"I'm glad you brought up that (Bayers Road) is the artery," responded Watts. "This, in fact, could be seen to be the hardening of the artery. Which could, in fact, end up having a significant impact on the health of our community as a whole."

Clans get ready for festival

► Gathering held every four years ► Event promotes Nova Scotia, accomplishments of its Scottish people

JENNIFER TAPLIN
@METRONEWS.CA

Attention all Scots (and wannabes): It's time for the International Gathering of the Clans.

The main events kick off this weekend for a month-long celebration around the province, but "shoulder" events started in April and will go into October.

A Scottish street parade and a Kirkin' o' the Tartans will take over Annapolis Royal this weekend. The HRM-based events are scheduled for July.

"The opening is in Annapolis Royal and that's because the first Scots in the province settled there in 1620," said organizer Carol Dobson.

Clan-gathering festivals started back in the '70s

Events

Some of the HRM events for the International Gathering of Clans:

► July 8: A flag will be raised in Grand Parade by Mayor Peter Kelly. "Clans night" at the Royal Nova Scotia International Tattoo.

► July 17: A tartan fashion show at Halifax City Club.

► July 24: The closing ceremony will be held at St. Matthew's United Church on Barrington Street.

when Scotland and Nova Scotia decided to trade off locations every few years. It soon fizzled out in Scotland but roared with popularity in Nova Scotia.

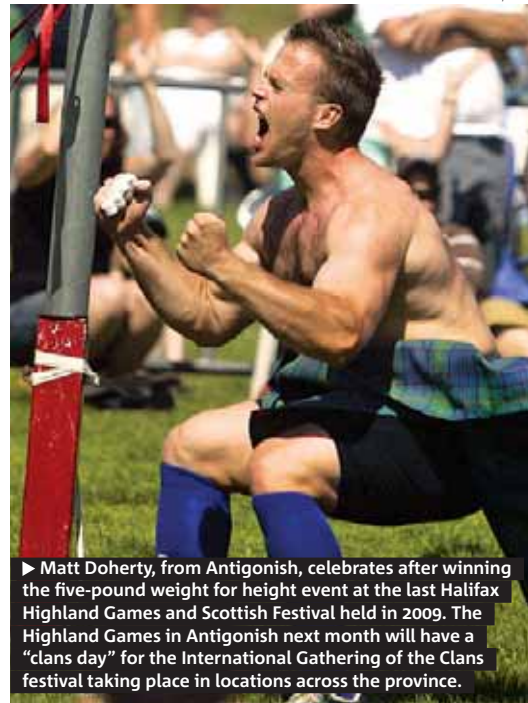

"I think it's because people here in Nova Scotia — new Scotland — have kept up with a lot of their traditions," Dobson said.

"We've just hung on to our roots, where over in Scotland with the castles they're there every day. I mean, how many Haligonians go to the Citadel?"

Usually organizers market to clan chiefs in Scotland, but this year Dobson said it will be different. "We decided to direct our marketing to people who came from Scotland to Nova Scotia who moved on to Ontario or to the States, etc., and use this as an occasion to draw them back to their Nova Scotia roots," she said.

According to their website, the festival is a showcase for "the tourism industry, linguists, artisans, musicians, dancers and Scottish enthusiasts."

RYAN TAPLIN/METRO

► Matt Doherty, from Antigonish, celebrates after winning the five-pound weight for height event at the last Halifax Highland Games and Scottish Festival held in 2009. The Highland Games in Antigonish next month will have a "clans day" for the International Gathering of the Clans festival taking place in locations across the province.

HALIFAX HIGHLAND GAMES STILL A NO-GO

Another local Scottish event — the Halifax Highland Games — is still facing troubles.

In 2009 the games moved from Halifax to Dartmouth, then it was cancelled in 2010. A recent Facebook post says the event will be cancelled again this summer.

"We still do not have a committee to take the reins of the event," organizers wrote.

Carol Dobson, organizer of the International Gathering of the Clans, said the Highland Games team is having trouble with getting enough volunteers, funding and sponsorship.

"If they were on, we'd be there with flags flying," she said.

Woman tells court she didn't dare try to overpower her accused captor

A New Brunswick woman testifying at the trial of her accused abductor said Thursday she never tried to create a disturbance or attack the man because she knew she would fail.

"I just know that if I went at him with a knife, he would overpower me," she said.

The 55-year-old woman, who can't be identified, had already testified that she was leaving work outside a Moncton mall on Feb. 26, 2010, when Romeo Cormier grabbed her, threatened her with a knife and forced her to walk to a basement apartment where she was held captive for nearly a month.

Cormier has pleaded not guilty to kidnapping, forcible confinement, sexual assault, assault with a weapon, theft and uttering death threats.

Shooting leads to charges

► A female resident was inside apartment when a gunshot was fired, but she wasn't injured

PHILIP
@METRONEWS.CA

Accidental?

Police say the shooting may have been accidental in nature.

A woman and a female youth are facing charges in connection with a shooting at a Dartmouth apartment complex on Wednesday afternoon.

But Halifax Regional Police said Thursday the charges relate only to weapons being seized from an apartment inside the building at 44 Primrose St., where it's believed the shooting took place.

"The two people arrested (Thursday) face a number of weapons-related charges in connection for being in possession of a firearm," said police spokesman Const. Brian Palmetter.

A 42-year-old woman and 17-year-old girl, both of Dartmouth, are scheduled to be in court on Friday to face various weapons-related offences.

The pair were first arrested after the shooting around 1 p.m. They were released and then re-arrested around lunchtime on Thursday.

Two long-barrelled weapons were seized by police when they searched the apartment where they believe the shot originated.

Police are looking for a 21-year-old Dartmouth man in relation to their investigation.

"At this time we are expecting charges to be laid with the actual shot being fired, but it's too early to say what form these charges will take," Palmetter said.

"We'll have to see where the information leads us."

Travelling roads closer to home

► Summer vacation plans have many eyeing our own province: Poll

BY THE NUMBERS

RICK EMBERLEY
HALIFAX@METRONEWS.CA

It seems many Haligonians plan to vacation close to home this summer.

According to my research, 51 per cent of HRM residents surveyed are planning to vacation in Nova Scotia this year, for at least part of their time off.

And almost 80 per cent say they will vacation in the Atlantic Canada region.

The rest of us are not planning to go very far. If we add those who plan to go to the northeastern part of the United States or Ontario, we're left with only six per cent planning their summer holiday in "far-away" places. The United Kingdom remains the destination of choice for those planning distant vacations.

This may not be that surprising given the rising cost of gasoline and the slow recovery from the recession.

These concerns also seem to be impacting the number of nights we plan to spend away from home and how much cash we'll put down.

Forty-five per cent of Haligonians surveyed expect to spend less than seven days on the road, and 70 per cent are planning to visit family and friends.

The value of the dollar is also having an impact on summer travel plans, with 65 per cent of respondents indicating they had already taken a vacation in 2011. Almost half of them said they travelled down south or to another international destination.

And what about our spending intentions? Seventy-two per cent expect to spend less this year on their vacation compared to 2010, with only six per cent expecting to spend more.

As to our favourite things to do while getting away, much hasn't changed.

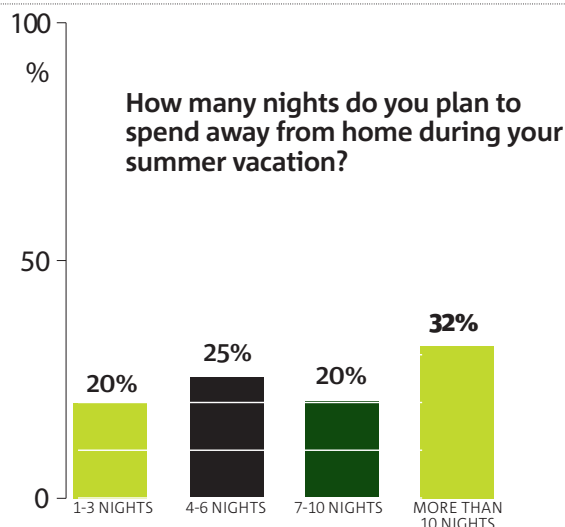

In addition to the 70 per cent spending at least a portion of their vacation visiting friends or relatives, 57 per cent said they will take a touring and sightseeing break, 39 per cent will go camping, and 36 per cent expect to visit historic sites.

Although there appears to be some concern in the tourism industry about a drop in outside visitors, the increase in locals touring the region may more than make up for the shortfall.

Rick Emberley is senior counsel at Marketquest-Omnifacts, an Atlantic Canada research firm. He has conducted public opinion research in the region for over 25 years.

Crackdown on off-leash canines

The province says it will be stepping up patrols this weekend against owners who allow their dogs to run off-leash in 15 provincial parks in HRM.

A government release issued Thursday says off-leash dogs continue to be a problem, despite education through verbal or written warnings and park signs.

Officials say they'll be issuing warnings and, where warranted, tickets.

"In recent years, park staff and visitors have been knocked down, intimidated and bitten by off-leash dogs," said conservation officer Chris MacLean.

A first-time offence will net a fine of $167.71.

ABCs of baby fat

► Daycares must promote good habits: Report

With one in five U.S. youngsters already overweight or obese by the time they start school, a new report urges steps to help prevent babies, toddlers and preschoolers from getting too pudgy too soon.

Topping the list: Better dietary guidelines to help parents and caregivers know just how much toddlers should eat as they transition from baby food to bigger-kid fare.

Contrary to popular belief, children don't usually outgrow their baby fat — and that can lead to lasting bad effects on their health as they grow, suggests the

Healthy weight

The new report is not about putting the very young on a diet. At the top of the report's list:

- Daycare and preschool operators should be trained in proper physical activity for young children, providing at least 15 minutes of it per hour the child spends there.
- Regulations should limit how long kids sit or stand still to a maximum 30 minutes — and limit holding babies in swings, bouncy seats or other equipment while they're awake.

report. "It's a huge opportunity to instill good habits at a time when you don't have to change old ones," said Leann Birch, director of Pennsylvania State University's Center for Childhood Obesity Research, who chaired the institute's panel.

Consider: Babies drink milk until they're full and then turn away. But children as young as two or three are sensitive to portion size. "If you give them larger portions, they eat more," Birch explained.

The report makes the case children's habits are influenced by far more than parents — and thus it is time to expand obesity prevention to more of the other places kids spend time. For example, nearly three-fourths of children ages two to five spend at least part of their day in some form of child care.

Big push to prevent AIDS

On her first visit to South Africa, U.S. first lady Michelle Obama met with former Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu, the country's leader in the fight for racial equality. T.O. mayor backs out of Pride Toronto Mayor Rob Ford says he will miss the city's Pride Parade next weekend because he will be at the family cottage.

Ford says going to the Huntsville cottage on the Canada Day long weekend has been a tradition in his family for 30 years.

The mayor's office says Ford will also not be attending the Pride flag-raising ceremony next week.

Francisco Alvarez, the co-chair of Pride Toronto, calls the decision disappointing and regrettable.

Ex-mayors David Miller, Mel Lastman and Barbara Hall all marched in the parade, which attracts more than one million people.

Bin Laden's death graphically depicted

► Illustrated book set for release Sept. 6, less than a week before 10th anniversary of 9-11 attacks

The daring secret mission to get Osama bin Laden by elite U.S. forces will be told in the pages of a new graphic novel that aims to shed more light — with a bit of creative licence — on the event.

Written by retired U.S. Marine Capt. Dale Dye and Julia Dye, the 88-page hardcover Code Word: Geronimo takes a look at the mission the authors said was aimed at keeping the focus on those who planned, conducted and executed the raid.

IDW, a San Diego-based publisher known for its line of comics that includes G.I. Joe and Star Trek, said the story of how bin Laden was killed would appeal to both new and established readers.

Julia Dye called the work necessary for the nation, particularly having had to live "within the shadow" of bin Laden for so long.

The story opens with a lone traveller on a dusty road in Pakistan, a rattled pickup passing by. It quickly shifts back and forth to a U.S. compound in Afghanistan to the White House to the house where bin Laden was hiding in Abbottabad, Pakistan.

The book is drawn without gratuitous violence or gore, the artists said.

The members of SEAL Team 6 are not identified by their real names, but the equipment, planning and training that resulted in the May 1 raid are.

Dye drew on his experience in the Marines as well as contacts within the U.S. military to ensure accuracy, but not to the point of being too detailed.

Anti-Islam politician acquitted

The boundaries of free speech in Europe widened Thursday after a Dutch court acquitted politician Geert Wilders of inciting hatred against Muslims when he compared Islam with Nazism and called for a ban on the Qur'an.

Political analysts say the ruling will likely embolden Wilders and other right-wing populists across the continent to ramp up their anti-immigrant rhetoric, with remarks like Wilders' call for a "head rag tax" now squarely within the boundaries of fair political debate.

The ruling did lay down a clear limit: Calls for violence remain out of bounds.

Wilders, who has lived under constant police protection due to death threats since 2004, has never called for violence or endorsed it.

Rising river spurs mad rush to save city

► 10,000 residents moved to safety as floodwaters move into Minot, N.D.
► Trailer park engulfed ► Missouri and Nebraska brace for trouble, too

Crews worked furiously Thursday to raise earthen levees in a last-ditch effort to protect North Dakota's fourth-largest city from floodwaters.

Trucks and loaders carried clay and dirt to waiting Bobcats that sped to and fro, spreading and tamping the material atop levees in Minot.

But as the Souris River kept rising ominously, officials acknowledged they can't stop significant damage to at least some neighbourhoods.

The workers and National Guard members were the only people to be seen — as many as 10,000 residents, or about one-fourth of Minot's population, have been moved to safety.

Parts of the city were already flooding.

One trailer park near the river was under several feet of water.

Much of Thursday's effort focused on protecting critical infrastructure, including sewer and water service.

More evacuations could become necessary if they are knocked out by flooding.

Mayor Curt Zimbelman said the sewer and water situation was "under control" but being monitored.

The river, which begins in Saskatchewan and flows

"There are no hotel rooms, no campers to rent — nothing. It's very stressful and it's very annoying."

AQUIRA FRITT, 23, WHO IS SEVEN MONTHS PREGNANT AND PLANNED TO SPEND THE NIGHT IN A VAN WITH HER BOYFRIEND AND FIVE-YEAR-OLD SON

for a short distance through North Dakota, was all but certain to inundate thousands of homes and businesses during the coming week.

"There are 300 people in shelters and the others have found places with family, friends, some rentals," Zimbelman said.

"But for the long term it's going to be a very difficult situation."

Zimbelman said many people have opened their doors to evacuees.

"I tell you what, North Dakotans are pretty good people," Zimbelman said.

Minot is about 95 kilometres south of the Canadian border.

Meanwhile, in Missouri residents braced themselves for flood trouble as the Missouri River rose.

Water has started pouring over levees in Holt and Atchison counties, flooding homes and cabins.

Kentucky Derby HQ smashed

A tornado smashed stables at the home of the Kentucky Derby, but the legendary track was set to get back to racing Friday after events were postponed for a day.

No people or horses were hurt at Churchill Downs during the Wednesday night storm. Its famed twin spires, grandstand and clubhouse were undamaged.

Churchill Downs president Kevin Flanery said it was the first tornado to strike the 136-year-old track.

Workers and trainers scrambled to pull horses from stables as the storm caved in roofs and tossed debris.

Obama's plan widely criticized

► 10,000 troops pulled out by December and another 23,000 by the end of next summer, says U.S. president

PABLO MARTINEZ MONSIVAIS/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

► President Barack Obama

The nation's top military officer and its top diplomat made clear Thursday that President Barack Obama rejected the advice of his generals in choosing a quicker path to winding down the war in Afghanistan.

The Obama troop withdrawal plan, widely interpreted as marking the beginning of the end of the U.S. combat role in Afghanistan, drew criticism from both political sides on Capitol Hill. Some Republicans decried it as undercutting the military mission at a critical stage of the war, while many Democrats called it too timid.

On Thursday, the president spoke at New York's Fort Drum to troops and steady way to make sure that the gains that all of you helped to bring about are going to be sustained," he said.

Army Gen. David Petraeus, the top U.S. commander in Afghanistan, said later that he, too, had recommended a more gradual withdrawal — as had Marine Gen. James Mattis, commander of the U.S. Central Command.

Obama's plan will leave 68,000 U.S. troops in Afghanistan after the draw-down. Most of those troops would gradually come home over the next two years, and the U.S. plans to close out its combat role in Afghanistan by 2015.

FBI captures mob boss

► Notorious gangster was wanted for 19 brutal murders ► FBI criticized for protecting mob figures when using 'Whitey' and others as informants

Boston mob boss James (Whitey) Bulger was captured near Los Angeles after 16 years on the run that embarrassed the FBI and exposed the bureau's corrupt relationship with its underworld informants.

The FBI finally caught the 81-year-old Bulger on Wednesday at an apartment in Santa Monica, Calif., along with his girlfriend Catherine Greig, just days after the government circulated pictures of her on daytime TV. The arrest was based on a tip from this new campaign.

FBI agents put the apartment under surveillance, lured Bulger out and arrested him without incident, authorities said. The couple were using the aliases Charles and Carol Gasko.

A variety of guns and a large amount of cash were found in the apartment, the FBI said. Federal investigators declined to say how Bulger got enough money to live on.

Bulger had a $2-million US reward on his head and rose to No. 1 on the FBI's Ten Most Wanted list after Osama bin Laden was killed. "Although there are those who have doubted our resolve at times over the years, it has never wavered," said Richard DesLauriers, agent in the charge of the FBI's Boston office. "We followed every lead. We explored every possibility, and when those leads ran out, we did not sit back and wait for the phone to ring."

Bulger faces a slew of federal charges while Greig, 60, is charged with harbouring a fugitive.

Details of hacker's troubled life revealed

► Teen may be member of LulzSec, an international group believed to have hacked into the websites of the Central Intelligence Agency, the U.S. Senate and Sony

The details of the troubled life of British teen Ryan Cleary, who has been charged with hacking into a British crime intelligence website, have begun to filter out.

The 19-year-old said to have been closeted in the bedroom of his mother's home in Wickford, Essex, in southeast England, appeared in court yesterday.

Details revealed by his mother paint a picture of a seriously disturbed teen who was emotionally vulnerable and attempted suicide. By all accounts, he was the ultimate reclusive computer nerd, squirreled away in his room targeting the world's computer networks for attack.

Cleary had a history of emotional and mental problems from an early age, appearing completely fearless and unable to grasp the consequences of his actions, his mother told the Daily Mail.

He has jumped into the path of traffic and started fires in the family home. He was first expelled from school when he was five for disruptive behaviour, said Rita Cleary, 45, who suffers from bipolar disorder. He was enrolled in other schools with the same result.

He has been remanded and will remain in jail in England for the next few days. His lawyer says he plans to apply for bail after the interview process has concluded.

Cleary is said to be co-operating with police. He faces five charges under the Criminal Law and Computer Misuse Act. The teen appeared in court in a crumpled T-shirt and track-suit pants. He was pale and unshaven and bit his lips throughout the hearing.

Memorial marks Air India attack

- ▶ PM unveils last national marker to 1985 tragedy
- ▶ Montreal memorial joins Ottawa, Toronto, Vancouver

On the anniversary of the Air India bombings, Prime Minister Stephen Harper is looking both to the past and to the future.

Harper was in Montreal yesterday unveiling the last of four national memorials to the 1985 bombing victims. This new memorial in the waterfront community of Lachine, a polished black stone, follows three similar ones in Toronto, Ottawa and Vancouver.

Harper said it was a day to remember the worst terrorist attack in Canadian history, when 331 people were killed.

The federal government created the Kanishka project to fund $10 million worth of initiatives designed to increase anti-terrorism knowledge — including conferences, publications and major research projects.

"Terrorism has not and will not undermine our way of life," Harper said.

"Our society remains resilient because of the basic values that bind us and make us stronger — freedom, democracy, human rights and the rule of law." THE CANADIAN PRESS

1 Late Transition. You may have seen commercials about an analog shutdown on August 31. This transition to “all digital” only impacts people that still use an antennas to receive their TV signal. Not to alienate the dozens of people who still adjust their image via wire hanger attached to the back of Uncle Lenny’s wheelchair, but a cable-conversion box is available. Now, I’m not the most tech-savvy person in town, but isn’t this like adding a Touch-Tone converter to your rotary phone? Hey, it’s 2011. People are watching HBO on their wristwatches. You don’t have to dance, but the least you could do is come to the party, Huckleberry. Jeez!

2 Amy Winehouse. After two years of supposed sobriety, her European comeback tour began with her “coming back” to rehab. I suddenly thought it ironic that a notorious alcoholic/junkie should be named “Winehouse,” but then I discovered that like many immigrants, her parents had changed their name. The original name was “Crackhouse.” (My apologies. I couldn’t resist.)

3 Drop the puck. Winnipeg’s new NHL franchise was unanimously approved by the league’s board of governors. Within three days of announcing the sale, the franchise sold 13,000 season tickets. I’ve always said that the two best things about Winnipeg in the ‘80s were hockey and Burton Cummings. Now if they combine the two and have him sing every anthem, I’m watching.

4 Disservice with a smile. Two of our nation’s most important service providers, Air Canada and Canada Post, went on strike, forcing consumers to employ other alternatives. Unfortunately, Canadians are having a difficult time adjusting, as they are unaccustomed to receiving good service while being treated well at the same time.

5 Royal economics. The Duke and Duchess of Cambridge, in an effort to save taxpayers’ money, will reduce the number of valets or dressers on their foreign tour this month. This simply means that instead of the 14 aides with which daddy, Prince Charles, routinely travels, they will tough it out with a mere six or seven. I don’t mean to appear ungrateful for the extra McFlurry I can afford with my tax refund in 2013, but I keep getting distracted by repeated footage of their $80-million wedding!

6 Sotto Voce. The Voice has officially eclipsed American Idol in talent, quality and class. Not a single contestant, even in the opening rounds, was there for the sole purpose of public mockery. Every contestant had chops. I also believe they have identified a great new artist in Javier Colon. If you haven’t been watching, check him out on YouTube.

7 Who’s the boss? Every Springsteen fan knows the story of that stormy night at Asbury Park in 1971 when Bruce met some football player who apparently “played a little sax.” And anyone who’s seen a Springsteen show recalls Bruce’s introduction of the band. Right before breaking into a rendition of Thunder Road, he’d say, “On saxophone, the incomparable, the big man ... Clarence Clemons!” Clarence is gone now, but his music remains.

DINOSAURS. Scientists have figured out a way to take the temperature of dinosaurs, and it turns out to be almost the same as ours.

Of course you can’t stick a thermometer under the tongue of a creature that’s been extinct for millions of years.

So they did the next best thing. They studied dinosaur teeth, which can reflect body temperature.

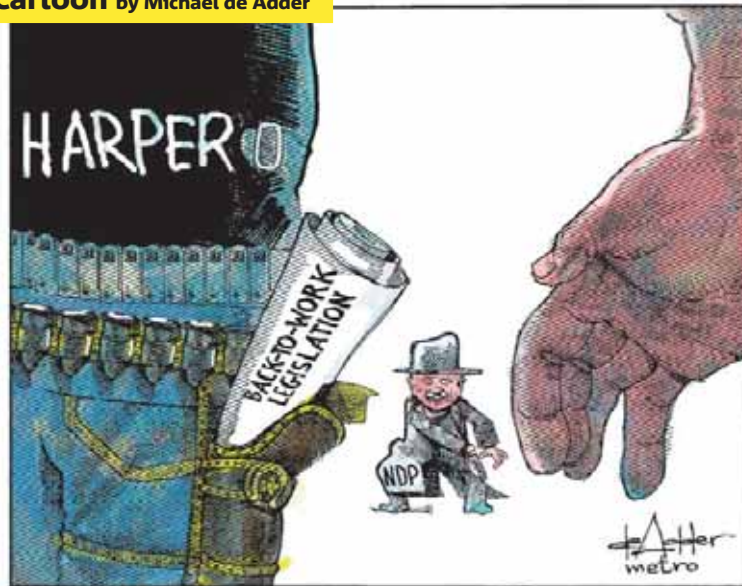

They found the long-necked Brachiosaurus had a temperature of about 38.2 C and the smaller Camarasaurus had a temperature of about 36.8 C degrees. People average 37 C.

Their study, reported online Thursday in the journal Science, will not settle the long-running debate over whether dinosaurs were warm-blooded like modern mammals or cold-blooded, requiring outside sources of warmth to get them going like lizards.

The researchers were able to determine the creatures’ temperatures because body temperature makes a difference in the amount of different types of carbon and oxygen that collect in the tooth enamel.

READY TO SERVE

City Certified Pre-Owned Centre features a large selection top quality used Mazda vehicles.

CITY CERTIFIED PRE-OWNED CENTRE NOW OPEN

People driving down Robie Street recently may have noticed something different around the location of City Mazda. While City Mazda has always sold new and used vehicles, for the first time in its 24-year history, it has its own lot for used vehicles.

Located at 2648 Robie St. and only two doors down from City Mazda, the City Certified Pre-Owned Centre is now open.

"At City Mazda, we've always been landlocked," explains City Mazda's dealer principal, Steve Scarff Jr. "In the peninsula of Halifax, there's really no room to grow."

With its new location dedicated to used vehicles, it means there will be more selection for customers.

"We only used to have enough room to keep so many used cars," says Scarff Jr. "Now we can expand out and have a better selection for our clients."

It used to be there was only enough room to have about 40 used cars on the site, but with the City Certified Pre-Owned Centre, that number has jumped to about 60.

Besides a great selection, City Certified offers vehicles of exceptional quality. On its new vehicles, City Mazda has a very popular optional maintenance package that covers maintenance and service including labour, tune-up parts, oil and filter changes, all belts, air and fuel filters.

Given the popularity of this program, it means many of the vehicles available at City Certified have been maintained using this program, leading to a higher quality vehicle.

"We have the documentation to show they are all well-maintained cars," explains Scarff Jr.

Having this paper trail in place also means City Certified knows everything that has been done to many of the vehicles.

Many of the staff at City Certified have been with City Mazda for a long time and are dedicated to helping their customers find the right vehicle for their needs.

On its used vehicles, City Certified has an optional two-year, up to 40,000 km maintenance program.

Salespeople Mike Leask and Brenda West are experienced salespeople who are very knowledgeable about Mazda vehicles and are able to assist people to find the right vehicle.

Users can check out the offerings at City Certified on its website at citymazda.com. These listings can even be filtered by year, make, mileage and price.

Scarff Jr. is very proud of the latest chapter in City Mazda's 24-year history.

"It's been with us for 24 years, but it has its own identity now," he says.

Mike Leask and Brenda West are thrilled about the opening of the City Certified Pre-Owned Centre.

WE LOVE WHAT WE DO

Mike Leask can barely contain his enthusiasm regarding the grand opening of the City Certified Pre-Owned Centre.

"It's really, really exciting," he says. "We love what we do."

Leask is the senior salesperson for City Certified, which will be having its grand opening on June 24 and 25. Located at 2648 Robie St., it focuses on selling used Mazda vehicles.

The vehicles for sale are of exceptional quality.

"We have the cream of the crop and if it's not that, we don't sell it," says Leask. "It's as simple as that."

The vehicles for sale are only made available for sale after they pass an extensive 72-point inspection. With an emphasis on late-model vehicles, many of the vehicles will also be covered by the balance of the factory warranty.

Customers visiting City Certified will notice the fine presentation of the vehicles for sale. Clean, polished and meticulously arranged in the lot, no detail is overlooked.

"They have to look great," says Leask, with noticeable pride.

Also on staff at City Certified is salesperson Brenda West.

"She's a fantastic people person," says Leask, noting that she clicks with everybody.

"Her attention to detail is exquisite."

For Leask, the position is his dream job and he loves working with customers to find the right vehicle for them, one that balances their needs and wants.

The new location has him beaming with excitement.

"I love it," says Leask. "I've been waiting for this for so long."

City Mazda uses the discarded oil from vehicle oil changes to fuel its waste-oil furnace.

GOING GREEN

At City Mazda, one of the ways the company is acting sustainably is through how it heats the building.

"We heat our building with waste-oil furnaces," explains Steve Scarff Jr., City Mazda's dealer principal.

Rather than using regular furnace oil, City Mazda uses the oil that comes from vehicles that come in for oil changes. Before the oil is used, it is twice-filtered to ensure any impurities are removed from it. The filtering system is connected directly to the furnace, so the purified oil transfers automatically to it.

The average vehicle uses anywhere from four to five litres of oil and is usually changed ever five months or 8,000 kilometres.

"Given that, you can well imagine how many oil and filter changes we do," says co-owner Kelly Scarff.

The idea to use waste-oil furnaces stemmed from a trip to Texas where City Mazda's founder saw a waste-oil furnace being used at a car show. City Mazda has been using waste-oil furnaces since the mid 1990s.

"Our customers save on the maintenance cost of their servicing because we save on the heating bills, so it's a win-win for everybody," says Scarff Jr.

Black's fate in judge's hands

► Former press baron to be resentenced Friday ► Whether Conrad Black goes to jail or walks free, neither side a victory, legal experts say

For the record

- The length of Conrad Black's sentence will be up for debate on Friday.
- Judge Amy St. Eve could choose to uphold the original six-and-a-half-year sentence, send him back to jail for a lesser time on the remaining convictions or allow him to stay free based on time served.
- Black has exhausted all legal avenues after a last-ditch Supreme Court appeal was denied in May.
- Even if Black is allowed to go free on Friday, he will continue to have a criminal record stemming from his two convictions.
- Full exoneration will take nothing short of a presidential pardon.

Conrad Black will learn whether his days of wearing an orange jumpsuit and sleeping in a cell are behind him when he appears on Friday in the same Chicago courtroom where he was sentenced four years ago.

The Canadian-born former press magnate, who has been free on bail for nearly a year, will appear before U.S. Justice Amy St. Eve at a resentencing hearing.

But even if Black, 66, emerges a free man, the challenge of clearing his name could prove insurmountable because he remains a convicted felon, legal experts say.

"He's going to come out of court on Friday when the judge does not impose additional jail time, and he's going to claim victory," said former prosecutor Jacob Frenkel.

"If someone views being a convicted felon on two counts and having served 29 months a victory, then let him call it a victory."

St. Eve sentenced Black in 2007 to six-and-a-half-years in prison for three fraud convictions and another for obstruction of justice, to be served concurrently.

Black had served two-and-a-half-years in a penitentiary in Coleman, Fla., before being released on bond last July awaiting an appeal after a Supreme Court ruling that exposed flaws in a federal fraud law.

An appeals court in October reversed two of his fraud convictions.

But Andrew Stoltmann, a Chicago lawyer who has been following Black's case, believes the remaining charges are so serious that he is headed back to jail to serve the rest of his term.

"The fraud and obstruction of justice convictions are very serious, and warrant a 6.5-year sentence of their own," he said.

He said resentencing judges are also charged with considering a defendant's behaviour in jail. Affidavits from Coleman officials claiming that Black shirked his duties and used other inmates as servants will hurt his chances, he said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Samsung to release report

Samsung plans to soon release the results of a probe into health and safety conditions at its South Korean semiconductor factories after employee illnesses and deaths raised fears of cancer risks.

Samsung Electronics

Co. commissioned an investigation by occupational health and safety experts last July after more than 20 of its chip plant workers were diagnosed with leukemia or lymphoma since 1998. A total of 10 died.

The announcement of the release came after a South Korean court ruled Thursday that the leukemia deaths of two women were linked to working at a Samsung semiconductor factory.

Twins drop Facebook lawsuit

KIMIRI HOSHINO/GETTY IMAGES FILE

► Cameron Winklevoss, left, and brother Tyler leave the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco in January.

► Settlement includes $45M in shares ► Stock now worth $100M

The Harvard University classmates of Facebook founder Mark Zuckerberg are ending the legal battle made famous by the Hollywood movie The Social Network.

In a one-paragraph court filing Wednesday, Cameron and Tyler Winklevoss said they would accept a settlement that was worth $65 million US when agreed upon in 2008.

The twins had sought to undo the settlement of $20 million cash and $45 million in stock.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled against the twins, saying they had been represented by a squadron of Silicon Valley lawyers and their father, a noted business professor.

The twins said Wednesday they would forgo a trip to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Their stock is now worth more than $100 million. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cogeco calls for tighter CRTC controls

Cogeco Cable is calling on the federal broadcast regulator to slap tighter controls on Canada's increasingly concentrated telecommunications and broadcast sector.

The Montreal-based cable TV company told the CRTC on Thursday that a string of takeovers in the industry requires tougher regulation.

Specifically, Cogeco

said, the regulator needs to crack down on corporate discrimination, undue preferences, refusal to deal, tied selling and margin squeezing that could hurt independent competitors in the industry.

The commission has been looking into the ownership of television channels by the big cable and satellite companies.

Plot synopsis

In the new Cameron Diaz movie, Bad Teacher, she plays – you guessed it – a bad teacher! More concerned with hooking up with a wealthy co-worker (played by her real-life ex Justin Timberlake) than with her students, she doesn't make much of an effort to actually educate until she learns there's a cash bonus for the teacher with the highest classroom grade average.

Turn up the raunch

► Richard Crouse and Tony Krolo agree Bad Teacher could have afforded more vulgarity ► But Cameron Diaz shines, as does her supporting cast Comedian Tony Krolo is sitting in for Mark Breslin this week.

Richard Crouse: Tony, having seen the red band trailer for Bad Teacher I went in expecting a vulgar, funny swear-fest along the same lines as The Hangover. Instead I got a funny, only somewhat vulgar movie that I think could have benefitted from a bit more raunch. Don't get me wrong, I liked it, but my expectations were higher... or, I guess, lower. What did you think? (Remember you have big shoes to fill here!)

Tony Krolo: First let me thank you for the opportunity to temporarily replace the vacationing Mark Bres-lin. I wanted to like this movie... so I did. From the opening song Teacher, Teacher by Rockpile, something I still have on original vinyl, to the great casting in even the smallest of roles to the sweet moments followed immediately by gross sight gags to the nicely paced direction by Jake Kasdan, Bad Teacher had a little bit of everything. But it could have had a lot more raunch, you're right.

RC: Yeah, it seems a bit afraid to go all the way. Diaz's character, a desperate, pretty-on-the-outside but ugly underneath is an odd character to hang a comedy on, but she pulls it off. She'll never be the funny, fresh face she was in There's Something About Mary and The Mask, and for this movie that's a good thing. The very slight patina of age and experience in her manner adds some extra desperation to Elizabeth. Having said that, I don't think this movie would work nearly as well without the supporting cast. You?

TK: The cast was incredible. Justin Timberlake really shines here. Jason Segel, John Michael Higgins, Phyllis Smith from The Office, they do their usual, great characters, but Eric Stonestreet from Modern Family played opposite to what you would expect, to really funny results. The only sad thing was the grossly underused Molly Shannon. It's sad. If she was 15 years younger, she'd have been perfect to play Lucy Punch's Amy Squirrel character, who I felt was doing a great Molly Shannon.

RC: The supporting cast don't exactly rescue this movie – it doesn't need rescuing – but without them Bad Teacher wouldn't be nearly as much fun.

TK: It is very funny if you can allow your suspension of disbelief to ignore the premise that Cameron Diaz's character actually worked at the school for a full year and gets hired back to have the shenanigans in this movie.

Hanks up against summer superheros

► His new comedy, Larry Crowne, faces stiff competition this movie season ► About a middle-aged man in college

NED EHRBAR
MWN IN HOLLYWOOD

Tom Hanks is the first to admit that Larry Crowne, his new comedy about a middle-aged man who goes back to college after losing his job, is something of a hard sell in the crowded, superhero-heavy summer movie season.

"How do we compete in the marketplace? Forgive me, I haven't the slightest f---ing idea. It's going to be interesting," Hanks says.

"Here we are in a summer of big-time blockbusters. It's not the summer — it's year-round," he says. "You could interview all the marketing gurus and they'll all talk about release dates and counter-programming and blah blah blah. But at the end of the day, it's got to be a good movie, it's got to be a funny movie and it's got to make people think, 'Hey, I couldn't have spent my time any better.'"

A tall order, to be sure. But as director, co-writer and the face of the titular Crowne, Hanks is more than up to the challenge. Besides, he's not actually that worried about the competition. "By the way, that thing about the guy who wore a suit and the planet exploded and he still got the girl by traveling through time? That movie sucked," Hanks says with a laugh. "I'm not saying any movie sucked, but you know what I'm talking about," he's quick to add, his inherent Mr. Nice Guy kicking in.

The story of a man heading to college in his 50s might make most people think midlife crisis, but for Hanks that doesn't begin to cover it. "It's not a midlife crisis, it's a midlife disaster," he says. "Midlife crisis is when you wake up with everything — 'Oh, I have everything but I'm still unhappy.' That doesn't happen to Larry. Larry thinks it's the greatest day in the world and he gets fired."

And while not graduating college did work out OK for Hanks, he is quick to point out that he and his leading lady, Julia Roberts, still remember the tough times, Oscars or no Oscars.

"There is a time for both of us where we're living in a rented house in the Valley that we cannot afford, we have been fired from the job that we had and it's now been 13 months since you've actually worked in the city and the phone still is not yet ringing," Hanks says. "And you wonder if in fact you're going to take the job at the Wienerschnitzel on Laurel Canyon. When you have that moment, that never quite goes away."

Cars 2
Genre: Animated

Director: John Lasseter, Brad Lewis

Stars: Larry The Cable Guy, Owen Wilson, Michael Caine 🌟🌟

After Pixar's ambitious work on titles such as Ratatouille and Wall-E, this is a disappointment. The first Cars was arguably the weakest Pixar outing, but it at least had moments of pathos and the mature storytelling.

Cars 2 shoves Lightning McQueen to the sidelines of his own franchise in favour of an ill-conceived James Bond homage starring the comic relief character Mater. The material might have worked as a direct-to-DVD sequel exclusively for children, but as a big-screen outing that will draw in all ages it's a letdown.

The convoluted plot wants to comment on the ruthless tactics of corporations determined to maintain fossil fuel dominance, but quickly turns into an mistaken identity comedy with Larry The Cable Guy playing spy games with Michael Caine.

The jokes are tired and the message about accepting friends in spite of their differences was already covered last time. The animation is stunning and there are a handful of funny sequences, but it's impossible not to compare it to the original movie.

Pixar set the bar pretty high for animated fare and at this point simple family escapism like Cars 2 isn't enough. PHIL BROWN

The Tree of Life
Genre: Drama

Director: Terrence Malick

Stars: Brad Pitt, Sean Penn 🌟🌟🌟

Terrence Malick's movies aren't for everyone. The auteur behind films like Badlands doesn't conventionally direct a narrative rather than suggest it. Impossible to describe in a sentence, the big prize-winner at the Cannes Film Festival explores a 1950s family (led by Brad Pitt in a stunning performance) dealing with the loss of a child intercut with lengthy musings on the evolution of life and the universe. It can be a cumbersome experience at times but a refreshing pause from the mindless summer blockbuster. STEVE GOW

Thinking big pays off for Gibson

RICHARD CROUSE

SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Tyrese Gibson, the handsome singer and actor, thinks big. Making his new film, Transformers: Dark of the Moon, was intense, he says, because "we were working on something the world is anticipating."

Later he mentions Michelle Obama is a fan of his book How to Get Out of Your Own Way. "I'm going to meet her one day."

Gibson doesn't regard these overblown statements as hubris but as simple statements of fact. It's hard to argue with him. The third Transformers movie is one of the most anticipated of the year and his book is on the New York Times Bestseller list. The key to his success is something called "maximizing the stage," he says.

"You want to become or be a part of the things that you see. There is only so much in your life that you can plan out. It's arrogant to believe that the next second belongs to you. Tomorrow is a promise so now that we're here it's about maximizing."

"I shot both Fast Five and Transformers simultaneously over seven months," he says. "Hanging out with Vin Diesel and Paul Walker from 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. and then getting on a private plane to get to Michael Bay. The same day; two different movie sets. That's a good life right there baby."

5 super-less superhero films

For all the enduring superhero movies that have been made over the years — The Dark Knight, the original Christopher Reeve Superman, Tobey Maguire's first two turns as Spider-Man — there are just as many that don't exactly live up to their own mythology or the expectations of their legions of followers.

Green Lantern, starring Ryan Reynolds as the reluctant new member of an intergalactic peacekeeping corps, would fall squarely into the latter category.

Jeered by critics last week as just a muddled, joyless bore, it made $53.2 million opening weekend, good enough for a No. 1 finish but a modest start compared to other superhero adventures.

But it gives us a great chance to compile an ignominious list of superhero movies that are less than super.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Catwoman
(2004)

So few films in the genre are about female do-gooders — it's usually the job of the women in these movies to look pretty in peril and wait around for the men in tights to save them — which is why it was such a bummer that this was a laughable disaster.

Halle Berry is indeed a sight to behold in her Catwoman get-up, and you've gotta love the fact that she had enough of a sense of humour to show up at the Razzie Award ceremony to pick up her worst-actress prize.

(It also "won" for worst picture, worst director and worst screenplay.)

But Berry's jaw-dropping good looks alone can't save this, and since all the scenes in which she kicks butt and leaps about with feline agility are sped-up, you don't get to ogle her for long anyway.

Daredevil
(2003)

This was a rough year for Ben Affleck. Besides this slick and formulaic adaptation of the Marvel Comic, in which Affleck played the blind lawyer-crimefighter Matt Murdock, he also starred in the notorious turkey Gigli.

To be fair, he was an easy target at this point in his career, when he was half of the tabloid sensation Bennifer with then-fiancee and Gigli co-star Jennifer Lopez. Still, Daredevil stands on its own two feet for its failures.

The character is flawed and tormented, not at all the good guy he'd seem to be on the surface, which might have been intriguing if Affleck hadn't played him so stiffly.

Daredevil also has the dubious distinction of spinning off 2005's Elektra, starring the current Mrs. Affleck, Jennifer Garner. Both have bounced back nicely from their superhero period.

Batman & Robin
(1997)

Nipples in the bat suit. This is pretty much all you need to know, and it's completely reflective of Joel Schumacher's campy style.

The steam has clearly run out in this, the fourth film in the franchise (and we're a long way at the point from Christopher Nolan's masterful re-envisioning of The Caped Crusader).

Arnold Schwarzenegger cheeses it up big time (even by his standards) as the villainous Mr. Freeze, and Uma Thurman never generates much heat as the toxic Poison Ivy.

Full of glib pop-culture references and gimmicky gadgets, this version worked hard to be silly and fun, and never revealed an understanding of Batman's true nature.

Hulk
(2003)

This would be Ang Lee's Hulk starring Eric Bana, not to be confused with Louis Leterrier's 2008 The Incredible Hulk starring Edward Norton, which was actually fun and action-packed.

Nobody's career was permanently damaged by this; everyone turned out fine afterward. Lee went on to win the best-director Oscar for Brokeback Mountain, Bana starred in the gripping Munich, and co-star Jennifer Connelly went on to do excellent work in films including House of Sand and Fog.

But man, at the time, this was just a self-serious drag: sombre and introspective, with none of the zippy escape you'd like to see in a summer blockbuster based on a comic book. You'd want to see Bruce Banner when he's angry, just because it would be a refreshing change from watching him brood.

Spider-Man 3
(2007)

This would have felt like a bloated behemoth on its own. The fact that two thrilling and imaginative films preceded it — with Spider-Man 2 emerging as a rare sequel that surpasses the original — made it feel like even more of a letdown.

Director and co-writer Sam Raimi overloads us with more villains, more supporting characters and more plot lines spread out across more time. People and threats come and go, and the narrative feels scattered.

Peter Parker (Tobey Maguire) must battle human foes Flint Marko (Thomas Haden Church) and Eddie Brock (Topher Grace) but also their alter egos, the Sandman and Venom. And Peter, as Spider-Man, must fight his own dark urges when a pesky black goop from outer space attaches itself onto him of all people — what are the odds?

SECRECY AS MARKETING

SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

Usually, the route to fame requires help: publicists, pluggers, and plenty of public appearances (cf. Lady Gaga).

But in the ultra-short attention span world of today's music, I've noticed that an increasing number of performers are becoming famous by staying anonymous.

The publishing world has known about the marketing power for anonymity for decades. Now some quarters of the music world seems to be applying the same methods. Smart, this, since the intrigued are forced to embark on competitive detective work that may go on for weeks or months, creating buzz and increasing chances of a breakthrough in a noisy market.

An example is Cults, the boy-girl indie pop outfit from Manhattan who created a stir in the hipster blogger community when they released a well-received EP in 2010 without offering any information about themselves. That mystery parlayed itself — intentionally or otherwise — into a major label deal. The British music media recently fell for Manchester's Wu Lyf. They gave no interviews and made no appearances. All communication was one-way through their website, which consisted of weird mission statements in language that bordered on nonsensical.

There was one picture: four people wearing bandanas in a smoky parking lot. Only now that they have an album coming out has Wu Lyf begun to talk. Their manager has been revealed as the founder of a creative agency whose clients include Adidas and Virgin. All this was carefully staged.

At first, all anyone knew about Brighton's YAAKS was that the lineup included someone named Thom and five mates.

Their identity is still pretty unclear, but that hasn't stopped a sizeable number of people from freaking out about a single called HRHRHYTHM.

Lest you think that this is a new thing, consider the Residents, the San Francisco art collective whose members have never been identified since forming in San Francisco in 1966.

Hey, who says you have to be famous and recognizable?

► Liam Gallagher, minus his brother Noel, fronts Beady Eye.

Raising their game

► Beady Eye not resting on success from Oasis' days

LINDA LABAN
METRO WORLD NEWS

Beady Eye sees the former members of Oasis, including frontman Liam Gallagher, but minus brother Noel, downsizing tours and playing smaller venues. However, forging ahead with this new band has upped their game.

"It's weird, man," says guitarist Gem Archer, "because I think a lot more bands should split up."

Known for the sibling rivalry of the Gallagher brothers as much as their melodic Brit-pop hits, Oasis suddenly, though not too surprisingly, fractured in 2009.

As Archer considers the quote he just provided, he laughs at how it could be taken as typically acerbic for these Brit-pop vets.

"I mean as an exercise," he adds.

"Imagine if every band said, 'Look, for the next tour we're going to do all the new songs and only sticking in three or four (old ones).'"

That is exactly what

Beady Eye's challenge is.

Though they look and sound familiar, they don't want to lazily rest on old laurels and play Oasis hits on this first world tour, which includes only a handful of U.S. dates and a promise, says Gem, to return for more before the end of the year.

"It was a bit of a mindf— to sort of go, 'Look this is all we've got,'" Gem says of the band's debut album, Different Gear, Still Speeding, which was released in February.

"It raises your game."

METRO WORLD NEWS IN BOSTON

It can be difficult to take what Royal Republic singer Adam Grahn says seriously. It's not just his huge handlebar mustache or that he sings lyrics like, "I can see your underwear!" in the chorus of one of his band's biggest hits.

It's that he makes a lot of jokes in conversation that are in perfect keeping with the Swedish band's hard-rocking party tunes.

It sounds like you're having a lot of fun singing these songs...

We're having too much fun. This album is all about having fun. We're just four dudes. It's just bullshit. There's nothing in there really, just stupid music stories about stupid made up people.

Humour is definitely a big component of the first album. How important to you is that?

For us, it was really important. We didn't want to be a heavy band, lyrically. We're happy guys. We have a lot of energy and this is what came out.

Playing so many shows with this one album, I'd imagine you're always looking for a way to keep yourself interested in what you're doing on-stage.

We kind of had an incident the other week in Germany... And I just lost it. I started saying, 'Everybody look at the dude with the mustache on the stage. Everybody do what the guy with the mustache is doing. Hands up!' And I was putting my arm out straight and going, 'Up, up!' (in German). And none of us thought about it until four days after in the van, our tour manager just turned his head in horror and was like, 'Adam, do you realize what we did the other day?'

It's a full house of poker problems

► Tobey Maguire among celebs reportedly caught ante-ing up at unlicensed poker matches ► Spidey actor caught in a web of lawsuits

Spider-Man star Tobey Maguire and other celebrities have been caught in a web of lawsuits seeking to reclaim more than $4 million won during unlicensed poker matches at upscale Beverly Hills hotels, court records show.

The lawsuits were filed by a bankruptcy trustee attempting to recoup money for investors who were duped in a Ponzi scheme.

The legal actions claim the clandestine Texas Hold 'em matches were played between 2006 and 2009, with some of the money taken in the Ponzi scheme used to pay off debts incurred by its architect, Bradley Ruderman.

Maguire is being sued for $311,000 plus interest that the lawsuit says was won from Ruderman. In all, 22 people have been individually sued to try to recoup money.

Among them was Nick Cassavettes, director of The Notebook. The trustee is attempting to recover nearly $73,000 plus interest from the actor-director.

Maguire's attorney, Robert Barta, did not immediately return a phone message seeking comment but was expected to file a response to the suit later this week. Cassavettes' agent Jeff Berg also did not immediately respond to a phone message. Also being sued is billionaire businessman Alec Gores, who along with his brother attempted to buy Miramax

Films last year.

$445,500. Phone message left for Frank Stefanik, a spokesman at The Gores Group, and his attorney, Patricia Glaser, were not immediately returned.

Ruderman was sentenced to 10 years in federal prison earlier this year after pleading guilty to two counts of wire fraud, two counts of investment adviser fraud and wilful failure to file taxes. Bankruptcy trustee Howard Ehrenberg filed the lawsuits in late March, attempting to recoup money on behalf of people who invested in what the legal action called a Ponzi scheme organized by Ruderman.

Pizza pie heaven

► This pizza takes the Italian favourite to a whole new level ► Grilling this Sweet Potato and Sausage Pizza infuses delicious smoky flavours

MATTHEW MEAD / THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ingredients:

- 1 medium sweet potato
- 2 sweet or spicy Italian chicken sausage, each cut diagonally into 8 slices
- 1 ball (about 567 g/20 oz) pizza dough
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) olive oil
- 1 ball (500 g/16 oz) fresh mozzarella, sliced
- Salt and ground black pepper, to taste
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) chopped fresh thyme move from grill and set aside.

3 Clean grill grates and brush with oil. Stretch pizza dough into a rough circle, about 35 centimetres in diameter. Reduce grill to medium heat, set dough on grate. Close lid and grill for 7 minutes or until bottom is golden.

4 Brush top of pizza crust with half of olive oil and flip over. Brush again with remaining oil. Top with sweet potato slices, cooked sausage pieces and mozzarella slices. Close grill and cook for 8 minutes or until cheese is melted and bottom of crust is golden and crispy. Remove from grill and sprinkle with salt, pepper and thyme.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Preparation:

1 Bring a medium saucepan of water to a boil. Peel sweet potato and slice it into 3-mm (1/8-inch) slices. Drop slices into boiling water and boil until just tender, but not falling apart, 5 to 7 minutes. Drain sweet potatoes, then set aside.

2 Heat grill to medium-high. Grill sausage slices until charred and cooked through, about 3 minutes per side. Re-

Summer grilling season is a great excuse to give the pizza delivery guy a break. Grilling infuses pizza with a wonderful smoky flavour and a crisp, chewy crust.

But you need to know a few basics.

First, your toppings need to be precooked because the pizza won't be on the grill long enough to cook them there. Second, it's important to start with clean, well-oiled grates because the dough will stick to charred food left on them.

Finally, start by grilling the dough plain until the bottom is lightly browned. Then oil the top, flip and add your sauce and other toppings to finish cooking.

We've opted for a slightly unusual combination of sausage and sweet potato.

Classic sliced tomatoes and mozzarella (with fresh basil thrown on after it comes off the grill) or sautéed peppers, onions and zucchini topped with pepper jack cheese also would be great summery options.

Not quite white, not yet red

PETER ROCKWELL

When you're a wine it's not that easy being pink. Caught between a red and a white place you're often accused of being designed for folks looking to take a step up from coolers.

Though California's White Zinfandel may be the best known pinky, Europe and South America have long histories of making rosé wines.

Theirs are typically drier with crisp berry fruit flavours. Light in acid and tannin they make a perfect match with pasta with tomato sauce and pizza, as well as grilled meats.

That harmony between body and fruit also gives them an edge over red wines when looking for a liquid partner for white meats and fresh fish; and they pair nicely with Asian dishes and brunch items.

Selection varies, with a wine like Polonari's 2010 Pink Pinot Grigio ($11.95 - $12.99) from Italy, a soft, strawberry-infused twist on the world's most popular white grape variety.

Shaw tops Bluenose draft prospects

If any Nova Scotians are picked in Saturday's NHL draft, Glace Bay's Logan Shaw will almost certainly head the list.

The six-foot-three, 197-pound Cape Breton Screaming Eagles winger is ranked 42nd among North American skaters by Central Scouting, after climbing 10 spots from his mid-season position of No. 52 in January. No other Bluenosers Shaw is ranked 109th overall by the International Scouting Service and was listed among TSN.ca's top-85 prospects. He had 26 goals and 46 points in 68 games last season.

"I'm pretty sure he's going to get drafted and, not only drafted, I think he's going to play one day in the NHL," Bordeleau said.

Standing out from the Herd

► Brent Andrews appears to be lone Moose on draft radar

MATTHEW WUEST
@METRONEWS.CA

It could be a lean weekend for the Halifax Mooseheads at the NHL entry draft.

Centre Brent Andrews of Hunter River, P.E.I., is the lone Mooseheads player ranked by Central Scouting heading into the two-day event starting Friday at 8 p.m. in St. Paul, Minn., and likely has the best chance of being picked.

The six-foot-two 197-pounder sits No. 129 among North Americans on Central Scouting's list.

"Whoever drafts him will get a very solid two-way player," said Mooseheads general manager Cam Russell. "He's big, he's strong, he skates well, he's good defensively, he's good down low ... He's your prototypical third-line centre."

Andrews, who the Mooseheads took 15th overall in the 2009 QMJHL draft, was fifth in team scoring last season with 12 goals among 29 points in 68 games. He was also 11th in the league in faceoff wins with a 55.1 success rate.

"He's just got great work ethic," said Central Scouting's QMJHL scout Chris Bordeleau. "He lacks a little bit in the skill category, but he works so hard. Guys that work hard like that always find a way to play somehow."

Central Scouting's stamp of approval isn't the be-all, end-all, of course. Mooseheads defenceman Sawyer Hannay wasn't ranked last year, but went in the seventh round to the Vancouver Canucks.

Mooseheads winger Gabriel Desjardins, who had an injury-plagued season, has experience on the national under-18 team and could be considered by some teams. Russell also advocated for the selection of six-foot-three, 188-pound centre Francis Turbide.

"He's very underrated," Russell said. "He's big, he's defensively solid, and he's not ranked for whatever reason ... But he's just an intelligent, good kid who understands the game."

Alexandre Grenier, who the Mooseheads acquired from the Quebec Remparts earlier this month, is another candidate to be selected.

Wild day for Lisicki at Wimbledon

French Open champion Li Na squandered two match points and lost in the second round of Wimbledon on Thursday to German wild card Sabine Lisicki, in the biggest upset of the tournament so far. The 62nd-ranked Lisicki erased both match points with service winners in the ninth game of the third set and beat the third-seeded Chinese player 3-6, 6-4, 7-6. Other winners on Day 4 included six-time champion Roger Federer, women's defending titlist Serena Williams and No. 2 Novak Djokovic. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flyers trade may set up draft flurry

- Philadelphia radically shakes up core of team
- Former Halifax Moosehead Jakub Voracek now a Flyer

PAUL BERESWILL/GETTY IMAGES

What was thought to be a straightforward NHL draft highlighted by Ryan Nugent-Hopkins being picked first by the Edmonton Oilers became more mysterious Thursday after an explosion of trades by the Philadelphia Flyers.

Now the question going into St. Paul, Minn., Friday is not only where the top dozen or so highly regarded 18-year-olds in this year's pool will be selected, but what moves may be made.

Already, the Columbus Blue Jackets have dealt away the eighth-overall pick, plus 21-year-old Jakub Voracek and a third-rounder, to the Flyers for centre Jeff Carter.

That came just before Philadelphia general manager Paul Holmgren sent Mike Richards to Los Angeles and then signed goalie Ilya Bryzgalov to a $51-million US, nine-year contract. Columbus GM Scott Howson said his team needs to start making the playoffs and now he has a scoring centre to go with Rick Nash.

"The time has come for us to do something like this to try and get an immediate impact on our team," said Howson.

"I don't take trading away a Jake Voracek — a 21-year-old player that's got tremendous upside — or the eighth-overall pick lightly, but our fans have been very patient. It's been 10 years now."

COLUMBUS GM SCOTT HOWSON ON TRADING AWAY FORMER MOOSEHEAD JAKUB VORACEK

It was already a tough draft to call, with widely varying opinions among scouts on what order to place the strong crop of prospects that come after Nugent-Hopkins.

The rebuilding Oilers have indicated they will add the playmaking centre from the Red Deer Rebels.

"I joined a rebuilding team in Red Deer a couple of years ago and I really liked that," he said.

"I'd love to join a rebuilding team like that and help them to the ultimate goal, which is the Stanley Cup, eventually."

If the draft goes as expected, Burnaby's Nugent-Hopkins will be the first British Columbian ever to go first overall.

NBA DRAFT

Cavs take Irving with No. 1 pick

The Cleveland Cavaliers selected Kyrie Irving with the No. 1 pick Thursday in an NBA draft that quickly became filled with international players.

Three of the first six players taken were from Europe, capitalizing on the absence of some American college players who might have gone in their spots if it wasn't for the league's uncertain labour situation.

Irving was loudly

cheered by family and friends in attendance in Newark, N.J. The point guard played high school basketball at nearby St. Patrick's High School in Elizabeth, N.J.

The draft gives the Cavs a chance to rebuild less than a year after LeBron James left for Miami, as they also owned the No. 4 selection that they used on forward Tristan Thompson from Brampton, Ont.

The Minnesota Timberwolves took Arizona forward Derrick Williams with the No. 2 pick. The Utah Jazz then took Turkish big man Enes Kanter third.

The Toronto Raptors selected Lithuanian Jonas Valanciunas with the fifth-overall pick. The six-foot-11 centre played in his country's top league last season. It was the Raptors' highest draft pick since they took Andrea Bargnani first overall in 2006.

Jan Vesely of the Czech Republic was taken sixth by Washington.

Send a KISS

You can now post your kiss, and read even more kisses, online at metronews.ca/kiss.

Dear chico, you are lovely inside and out. Have a great last day! LOVE POO POO

Kali,
Usted es la única mujer para mí, I will always love you. ROBOTIC DINOSAUR BOY

Peter, Had a wife and couldn't keep her soooooooooo HE MARRIES another one ? When? Someday? Oh really!!! PUMPKIN

Mike My Spanish Boy
The universe stopped from reaching you, just like you did on Tuesday. The kisses, the love, the connection, I have always felt the same way. Now I am straight in Metro office, trying to send this once again (for the 40th time in the last 3 days). Come back.

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 Don't do anything that might set off a war of words, or a flood of tears with friends or loved ones.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 It may be a carefree time, but don't think you can do as you please.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 There's money to be made this weekend, but if you take silly chances you could also lose money.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 This is your time of year. You must make the most of it, but you must also be conscious of your limits.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23 High expectations are good but you also need to keep your feet on the ground.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22 You may think you can take on the world but you wouldn't be wise to expect too much of yourself now.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 The moment success starts to go to your head is the moment your luck will start heading south.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 It's not like you to be outrageous but you've just got to do something to break the cycle of boredom.

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca ♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 Don't be shocked if someone you could always count on decides not to go along with your plans.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 If you want to get things done, you'll have to work closely with others.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 Slow down a bit and catch your breath. If you don't, health-wise, that's asking for trouble.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20. Be selective about your ambitions — and be ruthless with how you manage your time. SALLY BROMPTON
